

No one was shy about banging doors. With bump drafting the name of the game, there was no shortage of carnage. Teams went through sheetmetal (or in Saleen's case, composite) like tissue paper, but the risk returned big lap time rewards.

